I have not reached 50 rep on Stack Exchange because my last post is too old. What I'm trying to figure out is: If the reputation system has changed since I last logged on, have I missed a 'new' tag badge that would otherwise be awarded? A: No. You don't have any tag badges. The reputation system hasn't changed, you can still gain reputation without posting a question or answer. There is nothing to worry about. First published in 1952 by the Canadian-American academic journal Cahiers de la maison française, Roland Barthes's Notes sur le neveu de Rameau (Notes on Nephew Rameau) is a less well-known of the French writer's best essays, possibly because it is almost as difficult to read today as it was when it was first written. On the surface, the essay is a kind of personal history, the story of Barthes's relationship with his uncle, who was a conductor and the director of the Théâtre des Nations. His uncle's close, intense bond with Stravinsky was part of a kind of complex cultural osmosis that formed the backdrop for the essay. Barthes' 82157476af
